Research Asset Maps Report

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

SUMMARY

5 SSH Research Asset Maps

Five partner universities, the Institut Mines-Télécom Business School (IMTBS), Amsterdam University of Applied Sciences (AUAS), University of Vienna (UNVIE), University of Copenhagen (UCPH) and Carlos III University of Madrid (UC3M), mapped the social sciences and humanities (SSH) research assets with the potential for valorisation within HEIs, but also regions in partner countries. University partners conducted 50+ short interviews with researchers with the intention to create maps representing their identified SSH research assets.

Each research asset is presented in the format of personal maps describing: (1) personal information of researcher; (2) SSH field where research asset belongs; (3) thematic focus of research asset; (4) stakeholders involved in research; (5) phase of the research; (6) title and abstract of research asset; (7) potential valorisation area; (8) description of valorisation potential; (9) valorisation targets/potential future collaborators; and (10) researcher's quote.

The IMTBS as a lead on this activity, with support from AUAS, UNVIE, UCPH and UC3M conducted an extensive desktop review to select researchers and their assets, while focusing primarily on:

- Researchers with an interest to valorize their research
- Researchers with an interest to take part in the REVALORISE+ Researcher Training Programme
- Researchers who are recognized for their talents and efforts in valorisation
- Researcher pioneering in making use SSH research results
- Researchers looking to connect with like-minded researchers from other institutions
- Researchers looking forward to bring their research into practical use
- Researcher making a difference in SSH with their research

After completing desk research and 50+ interviews, REVALORISE+ consortium partners explored the external university environment to identify potential collaboration partners (businesses or governmental and non-governmental) in five partner countries regions (Paris, Amsterdam, Vienna, Copenhagen and Madrid) with an intent to match researchers with stakeholders with an interest to help researchers valorise their assets. Overall, 26 out of 52 interviewed researchers were recruited for and benefited from our Research Valorisation Training Programme, and 37 maps belonging to those researchers from France, Spain, the Netherlands, Denmark and Austria are available here on the project website for public outreach and all interested stakeholders.

The list of researchers and/or teams of researchers to whom SSH research assets belong, and the template of research asset map is available below. The template is also available for free use on this link.

Our mission is to help researchers extend the impact of their research beyond the academic context, and REVALORISE+ project consortium invites all interested researchers in SSH to download research asset map template, and submit their maps here for publishing on our website.

List of Researchers and SSH Research Asset

In the table below is a list of researchers and/or teams of researchers whose research assets in Social Sciences and Humanities (SSH) are available on the website. A number of those researchers and/or researcher teams were recruited for the pilot test REVALORISE+ Researcher Training. Training is designed to help Social Sciences and Humanities (SSH) researchers extend the reach of their research beyond academia.
